

There needs to be a widely accessible daily and weekly planner by Google to ensure that the current crop of students in academia can easily track all of their assignments and duties that they have to tend to.